SAN ANGELO OFFERS OPPORTUNITY

The 2015 show season is in full swing. We've got 2 full shows behind us in Abilene and Lubbock, as well a collegiate show at the Star of Texas Fair in Austin. Thanks to everyone who has helped, managed and volunteered to make our shows a great success.

The San Angelo show will offer riders a new opportunity to compete in the AQHA Versatility Ranch Horse (VRH) events. We've co-approved shows before, but this show will be the first under AQHA's new VRH rules for the Ranching Division.

Some may wonder why SHOT offers these co-approved shows. Several of our members enjoy showing under both SHOT and AQHA. We have worked closely with AQHA for the last several months to develop a system where SHOT exhibitors can ride for SHOT and AQHA points simultaneously. This will not only add to your year-end SHOT standings and awards, but also include AQHA points that go on your horse's permanent show record with AQHA. Showing in AQHA VRH could qualify you and your horse to compete at the AQHA Versatility World Show.

There are still a few details that need to be smoothed out to make a co-approved show seamless for all riders, and we will be working with AQHA in the coming months toward that goal for 2016.

We have worked hard to keep the best interest of the SHOT membership in mind, and are offering AQHA Versatility classes as a benefit for our membership. We know showing horses is expensive, and by offering co-approved shows, you can ride in both SHOT and AQHA without the cost of traveling to 2 different shows, paying 2 different stall and hotel/RV fees. Of course, if you just want to show in SHOT classes, that's great! There's no pressure to enter AQHA events.

From time to time, you may see some fresh faces who come to our shows initially to compete in just AQHA. But we hope that our friendliness and willingness to help our fellow riders will draw these exhibitors into the SHOT family as well.

If you are interested in showing both SHOT and AQHA, we encourage you to read the information sheet on our website. The link is with the entry form.

HISTORICAL CORNER

by Jim Truemper

During the early years of SHOT, many of the competitions were held at ranches in an outdoor environment. Fortunately, in most cases, the weather did not cause problems. The shows were small, 30-35 entries, but a downside to the growth of the association was that we outgrew these facilities. Rodney Rosenauer's shows were known for good prizes, good cattle, and challenging trail courses. One trail obstacle at this first show was riding past a couple of chickens in a cage. It was a warm day and the chickens did not have any water. Mary Anne Truemper and Vicki Hoggett took pity on the chickens, found a small bowl and watered them. Then they let Rodney know what they thought of his poultry husbandry skills!

"Well, how 'bout that!" Skip Hengy, John Fred McWilliams and Kim Lindsey at the first Rosenauer Quarter Horse SHOT Show on October 14, 2000.

EWD STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN SHOT

This was the third year that the Lubbock SHOT show hosted an Equestrians With Disability (EWD) class. The riders participated through the Texas Tech Therapeutic Riding Program, and rode in their own stock horse pleasure class.

This year for the first time, six of the riders also participated in the regular SHOT show, showing in pleasure. It was such a success that five EWD riders are showing in San Angelo, and plan to ride in other SHOT shows. With this in mind, SHOT would like to open the door for other EWD riders to participate in SHOT shows throughout the year.

EWD riders would participate in the SHOT classes of their choice. Year end points would be kept for EWD riders (just like the select and collegiate points are kept) and year end awards would be presented at the annual awards banquet.

If you know of riders, therapeutic riding programs, Wounded Warriors, etc. who would be interested in participating in a SHOT show, please ask them to call the SHOT office for more information on this program.
